WorldCat: Best Thing Since Sliced Bread
By Dale Talkington

For the kind of FUN hobby work that I do, Google and the brand-new beta WorldCat have become my most important aids to research. Google is easily accessed, but WorldCat's locations of 1.3 billion items in 10,000 libraries around the world previously have been available only through institutional access. It's become available to the public here and now. It's FREE and simple to use. Just type in a book name or author and it shows which library holds that book.

A note from the President

Diana Cruz

I can't believe October is just days away. October 1st is when I get to go to Salt Lake City and have a full week of research time in the Family History Library. It is my first time and I have been gathering notes on specific items I want to see while there. I am sure there will be successes and failures for my first time there but also looking forward to getting to know the other CCGS members going on this trip. I will be with many experienced travelers to Salt Lake City so will learn a lot from them too.

We have started our Fall 2006 series of classes with 13 registrations and Maryalice Gordon has gotten them into the beginnings of family history research. As one of the instructors I am looking forward to sharing with them the tips and tricks and what can be found searching the census. The Education Committee will also be working on putting together some individual classes to offer later in the year. If you have a class that would be of interest to you, please let us know. Lethene Parks is our Education Chair and can be reached at 360-260-9369 or email lethene@comncast.net. If you have a class that you would like to teach she would also like to hear from you. In the meantime I will be looking forward to seeing many of you at our next general meeting. Don't forget the change of date for that meeting in October to Monday the 23rd at 10:00 in the Annex. Until then I will be digging for more roots.

Clark County Cemeteries

Patricia McKee Bauer, webmaster

Clark County Cemeteries, a web project by members of CCGS, is progressing nicely. The web page is located at www.rootsweb.com/~wacclacem We still have a few cemeteries that need to be photographed, if you would like to volunteer for one of them. The main necessity for this is a digital camera so we have no photo charges. All pictures of the stones should be taken as close as possible with just a bit of greenery around the stone. When finished, the photos should each be renamed with the complete name of those buried there - last name first. An example would be: SMITH, John B. & Mary J. (Dates are not necessary.) The camera automatically gives a file name to each photo and it takes me many hours extra if I have to decipher the inscription on each stone. CDs or floppies with the files can be left at the library for me to pick up later. Or they can be mailed to me.

Some cemeteries not yet adopted are Northwood Park; Ridgefield; Pioneer (in the Pioneer area of Ridgefield); St. John's Catholic; Bethel Evangelical Methodist (Carty Road); Memory Memorial (144 & Manor Highway - Wilson Bridge next to it has been done), St. Mary of Guadalupe (also in the Pioneer area of Ridgefield) and the Post Military Cemetery.

There are a few more so if you're interested in adopting a cemetery, please let us know. One last important detail - keep track of your hours spent on the project. This includes travel time and the hours you spend renaming each of the photos. Volunteer hours should be turned in monthly to Dixie Arata of CCGS. There is a form on our web page that can be used.

Research & Preservation

Jane Germann

DeAnn Wilson was really busy this summer. She was indexing the Vancouver Independent using photos of the old newspaper. She sat at home indexing the vitals information by using a split screen on her computer - she accesses the photos on one screen and the data base for the births, marriages, deaths and divorces on the second. Sometimes it is the probate records advertised in the paper that tell us of the death of a person, sometimes a long obituary, sometimes a death notice, sometimes just a sentence in the local column. It has been a fun project to work on and DeAnn did four years worth this summer. Jim Crossman is working also working on this project.

The Vancouver Independent began in 1875 and has been extracted by photographs to 1888. It was published until the year 1910. This indexing project has been a joint effort between Fort Vancouver Regional Library who has copies of the old newspapers on microfilm and CCGS. When all years are indexed, it will be made into a book for a short-run publication and a copy will be at our library and the public library. Would you like to help with this project? You will need a computer and a data base such as Excel. Contact Chairperson Jane Germann or President Diana Cruz.

| When I was born I cried,
| while all around me smiled.
| I am trying to so live that,
| when I die,
| I can smile while all around me cry.

(Thanks to Jim Cochran for sharing this gem from long ago.)

From Don Finel: This just might be something our members could put to use in searching for a record on a lost member of the ancestral family. www.funeralhomes.com/go/listing/Home Funeral homes directory - Providing funeral homes information for the entire U.S along with Free obituary listings. It appears to be a good resource for those wanting to find a funeral home to visit or to write to relating to any ancestral findings in certain areas. I checked for a very small town in Texas that I am interested and found two homes, when I thought there was only one. Now to write to the other one and see if they happen to have any records for me.
